

Terra Migaki Design was born from the cultural exchange between Italy-Europe and Japan in order to promote green architecture with a special attention on the development of earth construction techniques.

The organization of workshops held by magister artis and italian and japanese professionals starting in 2015, has developed with the promotion of events during the fuorisalone 2016-2017.

Further enrichment to this project was carried out by means of cultural trips and seminars in several italian and japanese towns, such as the presentation at the last science festival in Genoa.

TMD is composed by different events, such as:

Design Competition Expositions Workshops Laboratories Shows Conferences Japan Trip Brief History

Competition

Following the previous editions, TMD is launching a new call for the international earth design competition in 2018, aimed at finding an innovative use of earth as main material in green design.

Designers and earth specialists are invited to participate.

Exhibitions

This year the theme of the exhibition will be "make" through practical demonstrations of japanese and european craftspeople.

Workshop

The TMD18 exhibitions, beside presenting the projects and prototypes of the international competition, will also display materials, tools and photos regarding green design, raw earth handicrafts and japanese culture.

This year the theme of the exhibition will be "make" through practical demonstrations of Japanese and European craftspeople.
